Twenty-Third Annual Meeting Will Be Held Docember 10.

The call for the twenty-third annual meeting of the United States Potters' association in Pittsburg December 10 has been sent out by Charles Howell Cook, president.

The association embraces every pottery in the United States, and representatives from each will be present at the Pittsburg meeting.

Owing to the very cordial relations which have existed between the manufacturers and operatives during the past half year, it is not thought there will be any questions of vital importance to demand consideration. It is possible that a movement will be made looking to the enforcement of the Brotherhood regulations in the

It will be remembered that when the demand was made early last spring to make the uniform scale operative throughout the United States the officials of the United States association refused to deal with the Brotherhood, but since the matter has been so successful and satisfactory in the west, it is altogether probable an effort will be made to have the regulations made universal.

A crowd congregated and in an endeavor to separate the combatants, who were clinched like bulldogs and Dietrich, of Allegheny, and Dr. D. THE MONROE DOCTRINE UPHELD

As the Cardinal Feature of the True American Policy-Suppression of Anarchy And Other Problems Abby Discussed.

Washington, Dec. 3.-The president in his annual message to congress

The congress assembles this year under the shadow of a great calamity. On the 6th of September President Me-Kinley was shot by an anarchist while attending the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo and died in that city on the 14th of that month.

Of the last seven elected presidents be is the third who has been murdered, and the bare recital of this fact to sufficient to justify grave alarm among all loyal American citizens. Moreover, the circumstances of this, the third as sassination of an American president; have a peculiarly sinister significance. Both President Lincoln and President Garfield were killed by assassins of types unfortunately not uncommon in history, President Lincoln falling victim to the terrible passions aroused by four years of civil war and President Garfield to the revengeful vanity of a disappointed office seeker. President McKinley was killed by an utterly depraved criminal belonging to that body of criminals who object to all governments, good and bad alike, who are against any form of popular liberty if it is guaranteed by even the most just and liberal laws and who are as bostile to the upright exponent of a free people's sober will as to the tyrannical and irresponsible despot.

Anarchy and Anarchists. The president continues with a ulogy of Mr. McKinley, then turn the subject of anarchy, denouncing its doctrines and preachers. He says: I earnestly recommend to the congress that in the exercise of its wise discretion it should take into consideration the coming to this country of anarchists or persons professing principles hostile to all government and justifying the murder of those placed in au thority. Such individuals as those who not long ago gathered in open meeting to glorify the murder of King Humbert of Italy perpetrate a crime, and the law should insure their rigorous punishment. They and those like them should be kept out of this country, and if found here they should be promptly deported to the country whence they came, and farreaching provision should be made for the punishment of those who stay. No matter calls more urgently for the wisest thought of the

A Subject For Federal Courts. The federal courts should be given jurisdiction over any man who kills or attempts to kill the president or any man who by the constitution or by law is in line of succession for the presidency, while the punishment for an unsuccessful attempt should be proportloned to the enormity of the offense against our institutions. Anarchy is a crime against the whole human race, and all mankind should band against the anarchist. His crime should be made an offense against the law of nations, like piracy and that form of man stealing known as the slave trade. The president pext considers business conditions, which he finds highly

The tremendous and highly complex industrial development which went on with ever accelerated rapidity during the latter balf of the pineteenth century brings us face to face at the beginning of the twentleth with very serious social problems. The growth of cities has gone on befond comparison faster than the growth of the country, and the upbuilding of the great industrial centers has meant a startling increase not merely in the aggregate of wealth, but in the number of very large individual and especially of very large corporate fortunes. THE MONROE DOCTRINE UPHELD

As the Cardinal Feature of the True American Policy-Suppression of Anarchy And Other Problems Abby Discussed.

Washington, Dec. 3.-The president

der the shadow of a great calamity. On the 6th of September President Mo-Kinley was shot by an anarchist while attending the Pan-American exposion the 14th of that month.

Of the last seven elected presidents he is the third who has been murder and the bare recital of this fact le sufficient to justify grave alarm among all loyal American citizens. Moreover, the circumstances of this, the third assassination of an American president; bistory, President Lincoln falling victim to the terrible passions aroused by four years of civil war and President Garfield to the revengeful vanity of a disappointed office seeker. Presi dent Mckinley was killed by an utterly depraved criminal belonging to that sociation refused to deal with the body of criminals who object to all Brotherhood, but since the matter has governments, good and bad alike, who been so successful and satisfactory in are against any ferm of popular libthe west, it is altogether probable an erty if it is guaranteed by even the most just and liberal laws and who are as hostile to the upright exponent of a free people's sober will as to the tyrannical and irresponsible despot

Anarchy and Anarchists.

The president continues with a eulogy of Mr. McKinley, then turns to the subject of anarchy, denouncing its doctrines and preachers. He-se

I earnestly recommend to the congress that in the exercise of its wise discre tion it should take into consideration the coming to this country of anarchhotel on Second street. The belliger- ists or persons professing principles hostile to all government and justifying the murder of those placed in au thority. Such individuals as those who not long ago gathered in open meeting to glorify the murder of King Humbert of Italy perpetrate a crime, and the law should insure their rigorous punishment. They and those like them should be kept out of this country, and if found here they should be promptly deported to the country whence they came, and farreaching provision should be made for the punishment of those who stay. No matter calls more urgently for the wisest thought of the

The president next considers business conditions, which he finds highly satisfactory. He continues:

The tremendous and highly complex industrial development which went on with ever accelerated rapidity during the latter balf of the ninetcenth ceutury brings us face to face at the beginning of the twentleth with very serious social problems. The old laws and the old customs which had almost the bliding force of law were once quite sufficient to regulate the accumulation and distribution of wealth. Since the industrial changes which have so enormously increased the productive power of mankind they are no longer sufficient.

Trade Combinations The growth of cities has gone on be rond comparison faster than the growth of the country, and the upbuilding of the great industrial centers has meant a startling increase not merely in the aggregate of wealth, but in the number of very large individual and especially of very large comporate fortunes. The creation of these great corporate fortunes has not been due to the tariff nor to any other governmental action, but to natural causes in the pusiness world, operating in oth-

or countries as they operate in our

The process has aroused much antagonism, a great part of which is wholly without warrant. It is not true that as the rich have grown richer the poor have grown poorer. On the contrary, never before has the average man, the wageworker, the farmer, the small trader, been so well off as in this country and at the present time. There have been abuses connected with the accumulation of wealth, yet it remains true that a fortune accumulated in legitimate business can be accumulated by the person specially benefited only on condition of conferring immense incidental benefits upon others. Successful enterprise of the type which benefits all mankind can only exist if the conditions are such as to offer great prizes as the rewards of Reasons For Caution.

The president adds that there are many reasons for caution in dealing with corporations. He says:

The same business conditions which have produced the great aggregations of corporate and individual wealth have made them very potent factors in eternational commercial competition.

Moreover, it cannot too often be pointed out that to strike with ignorant violence at the interests of one set of men almost inevitably endangers the interests of all. The fundamental rule to our national life-the rule which underlies all others-is that, on the whole and in the long run, we shall go up or down together.

The mechanism of modern business is so delicate that extreme care must be taken not to interfere with it in a spirit of rashness or ignorance. In dealing with business interests, for the government to undertake by crude and til considered legislation to do what may turn out to be bad, would be to incur the risk of such farreaching national disaster that it would be preferable to undertake nothing at all. The men who demand the impossible or the undesirable serve as the allies the forces with which they are nomteally at war, for they hamper those who would endeavor to find out in rational fashion what the wrongs really are and to what extent and in what manner it is practicable to apply reme-

How to Correct the Evils.

All this is true, and yet it is also true that there are real and grave evils, one of the chief being overcapitalization because of its many baleful consequences, and a resolute and practical effort must be made to correct these

It is no limitation upon property rights or freedom of contract to require that when men receive from government the privilege of doing business under corporate form, which frees them from individual responsibility and enables them to call into their enterprises the capital of the public, they shall do so upon absolutely truthful representations as to the value of the property in which the capital is to be invested. Corporations engaged in interstate commerce should be regulated If they are found to exercise a license working to the public injury. It should be as much the alm of those who seek for social betterment to rid the business world of crimes of cunning as to rid the entire body politic of crimes of violence. Great corporations exist only because they are created and safeguarded by our institutions, and it is therefore our right and our duty to see that they work in harmony with these institutions.

Publicity the First Essential.

The first essential in determining how to deal with the great industrial combinations is knowledge of the facts -publicity. In the interest of the publie the government should have the right to inspect and examine the workings of the great corporations engaged in interstate business. Publicity is the only sure remedy which we can now invoke. What further remedies are needed in the way of governmental regulation or taxation can only be determined after publicity has been obtained by process of law and in the course of administration. The first requisite is knowledge, full and complete-knowledge which may be made public to the world.

Artificial bodies, such as corporations and joint stock or other associations, depending upon any statutory law for their existence or privileges should be subject to proper governmental supervision, and full and accurate information as to their operations should be made public regularly at reasonable Intervals.

. The large corporations, commonly called trusts, though organized in one state, always do business in many states, often doing very little business in the state where they are incorporated. There is utter lack of uniformity in the state laws about them, and, as no state has any exclusive interest in or power over their acts, it has in practice proved impossible to get adequate regulation through state action. Therefore, in the interest of the whole people, the nation should, without interfering with the power of the states in the matter itself, also assume power of supervision and regulation over all corporations doing an interstate busi-

Amend Constitution If Necessary.

When the constitution was adopted, at the end of the eighteenth century, no human wisdom could foretell the sweeping changes, alike in industrial and political conditions, which were to of economic causes we are beyond the take place by the beginning of the tweptieth century. At that time it was accepted as a matter of course that the several states were the proper authorities to regulate, so far as was then necessary, the comparatively insignificant and strictly localized corporate bodies of the day. The conditions are now wholly different, and wholly different action is called for.

I believe that a law can be framed which will enable the national government to exercise control along the lines above indicated, profiting by the experience gained through the passage and administration of the interstate com-of the congress is that it lacks the constitutional power to pass such an act. then a constitutional amendment should be submitted to confer the

There should be created a cabinet of ficer, to be known as secretary of sommerce and industries, as provided in the bill introduced at the last session of the congress. It should be his province to deal with commerce in its broadest sensa including among many inent streets in that quarter. The other things whatever concerns labor East Enders have a pride that is not and all matters affecting the great business corporations and our merchant marine.

Labor.

The president declares that he regards it necessary to re-enact the Chinese exclusion law. In regard to labor he says that the government should propose that the city of East Liverprovide in its contracts that all work should be done under "fair" conditions and that all night work should be forbidden for women and children as well as excessive overtime. He continues:

Very great good has been and will be accomplished by associations or unions of wageworkers when managed with forethought and when they combine insistence upon their own rights with law abiding respect for the rights of others. The display of these qualities in such bodies is a duty to the nation no less than to the associations themselves. Finally, there must also in many cases be action by the government in order to safeguard the rights and interests of all. Under our const! Enders say that they do not propose tution there is much more scope for such action by the state and the municfpality than by the nation. But on points such as those touched on above the national government can act.

He asserts that the immigration laws are unsatisfactory and that a law should be enacted to keep out not only anarchists, but persons of a low moral tendency or of unsavory reputation and those who are below a certain standard of economic fitness to enter our industrial field as competitors with American labor.

The Tariff and Reciprocity.

The president declares that nothing could be more unwise than to disturb the business interests of the country by any general tariff change at this time.

Yet it is not only possible, but eminently desirable, to combine with the stability of our economic system a supplementary system of reciprocal benefit and obligation with other nations. Such reciprocity is an incident and result of the firm establishment and preservation of our present economic policy. It was specially provided for in the present tariff law.

Reciprocity must be treated as the duty is to see that the protection granted by the tariff in every case where it Rev. R. A. McKinley, D. D., whose is needed is maintained, and that reciprocity be sought for so far as it can safely be done without injury to our home industries. Just how far this is must be determined according to the Crowe for preparing the same, the individual case, remembering always club adjourned to meet the last Monthat every application of our tariff polmust be conditioned upon the cardinal fact that the duties must never be reduced below the point that will cover the difference between the labor cost here and abroad. The well being of the wageworker is a prime consideration of our entire policy of economic legislation.

Need For Wider Markets.

Subject to this proviso of the proper protection necessary to our industrial well being at bome, the principle of reciprocity must command our hearty support. The phenomenal growth of our export trade emphasizes the urgency of the need for wider markets and for a liberal policy in dealing with game. The following is the line-up: foreign nations. Whatever is merely petty and vexatious in the way of trade restrictions should be avoided. The customers to whom we dispose of our surplus products in the long run, directly or indirectly, purchase those surplus products by giving us something in return. Their ability to purchase our products should as far as possible be secured by so arranging our tariff as to enable us to take from them those products which we can use without harm to our own industries and labor or the use of which will be of marked benefit to us.

It is most important that we should maintain the high level of our present prosperity. We have now reached the point in the development of our interests where we are not only able to supply our own markets, but to pro- Consignment of a Dozen Fought on duce a constantly growing surplus for which we must find markets abroad. To secure these markets we can utilize existing duties in any case where they are no longer needed for the purand the duty is no longer necessary The cordial relations with other nations which are so desirable will naturally be promoted by the course thus required by our own interests.

The natural line of development for a policy of reciprocity will be in connection with those of our productions which no longer require all of the support once needed to establish them upon a sound basis and with those others where either because of natural or reach of successful competition.

I ask the attention of the senate to the reciprocity treaties laid before it by my predecessor.

The Merchant Marine.

The condition of the American merchant marine is such as to call for immediate remedial action by the congress. It is discreditable to us as a nation that our merchant marine

To secure these markets we can utilize existing duties in any case where they are no longer needed for the purpose of protection, or in any case where the article is not produced bere and the duty is no longer necessary for revenue, as giving us something to offer in exchange for what we ask. The cordial relations with other nations which are so desirable will naturally be promoted by the course thus required by our own interests.

The natural line of development for a policy of reciprocity will be in connection with those of our productions which no longer require all of the support once needed to establish them upon a sound basis and with those others where either because of natural or of economic causes we are beyond the reach of successful competition.

I ask the attention of the senate to the reciprocity treaties laid before it by which we must find markets abroad.

 IMPROVED STREETS

A Loud Call for Them Is Being Made By East End Citizens

East Enders are giving vent to a wailing and gnashing of teeth over the distressing condition of the prombroadest sense including among many inent streets in that quarter. The East Enders have a pride that is not to be sneezed at. They are an industrial center, are going to compel the Pennsylvania company to build a depot, intend to further beautify their parks, etc., but the East End people he says that the government should propose that the city of East Liverpool shall better the almost impassable condition of certain streets which show up to remarkable disadvantage in muddy times.

Business men of that section would like very much to have Chestnut street, alley, or whatever it is termed -but a street so far as traffic amounts to-bettered from its terminus, Mulberry street and Virginia avenue.

They would also like to have the run on Virginia avenue, approaching Elm. street, bridged. All of these matters have been mentioned to the councilmen personally, but the East Enders say that they do not propose to have their modest requests frowned down nor indifferently tabooed.

It is a matter which they propose to have attended to and they will make their kicks duly manifest at an opportune moment.

ALSO PROVIDES FOR EXPULSION

By Its Provisions, Board of Inquiry Authorized to Make Searching Investigation - Anarchist Escaping May Be Seized.

Washington, Dec. 3 .- Senator Burrows, of Michigan, will introduce a bill today, providing for the exclusion and expulsion of alien anarchists. By its provisions the board of inquiry is authorized to diligently search for anarchists among the foreigners coming to this country and ascertain by pertinent questions as to his antecedents, his opinions as to governments, or whether he belongs to any society or association with anarchistic tendencies; and it may examine the person of such alien for marks indicative of such membership.

The board may accept evidence of the immigrant's common reputation as an anarchist and orders. decrees and judgments of foreign governments and police notifications as prima facie evidences which may be deemed sufficient to prevent admission of such alien.

When an anarchist escapes this inquisition he may be seized by the commissioner general of inquiry, and if after a thorough and satisfactory inquiry is found to be a menace to this government as an anarchist, may be deported to the country from which he came.

AMERICAN TERRITORY BY THE PARIS TREATY

U. S. Supreme Court So Decided as to Philippines-Porto Ricon Duty Case Also Decided.

Washington, Dec. 3.—Opinions were rendered in the United States supreme court in the last two of the insular test cases. One of them was that known as the "14 diamond ring" involving the relationship of the United States to the Philippine islands from a tariff point of view, and the other what is known as the Dooley case No. 2, involving the constitutionality of the collection of duty on goods shipped from New York to Porto Rico. In the former case the court.

through Chief Justice Fuller, held that the diamond rings brought in from the Philippines and over which the case arose should have been exempt from duty under the Paris treaty peace, as that treaty made the Philippines American territory. The decision in the Philippine case followed closely that of the first Porto Rican case of last term. In the Dooley case, decided yesterday, it was held that the duty collected on goods carried from New York to Porto Rico permissible but that reality a tax for the benefit of the Porto Ricans themselves, rather than an export duty, as was claimed by the merchants who antagonized the government in the case.

In both cases there were dissenting opinions, concurred in by four of the nine justices of the court.

It is generally believed that the finding in the Philippine case will lead to early efforts to secure legislation for the regulation of our commercial relations with those islands. As Porto Rican opinion sustains the constitutionality of the Foraker act, no such necessity will arise with reference to Porto Rico.

BRIEF SESSIONS WERE HELD.

Chaplain Couden Prayed In the House and Chaplain Milburn In Senate.

Washington, Dec. 3 .- The opening day of the first session of the Fiftyseventh congress in the house of representatives furnished a spectacle that delighted the crowded galleries. The machinery of the house is cumberous and is set in motion by a laborious process, but the spectators evidently did not consider it tedious, as they clung to their places through the entire proceedings, which lasted four and one-half hours, probably half the time being consumed in the monotonous calling of the roll. The organization of the house was accomplished according to time-honored precedents. Speaker Henderson was sworn in by General Bingham, "the Father of the House," and after delivering a very graceful speeca in recognition of the honor bestowed upon him, he in turn administered the oath to the members-elect. The usual committees were appointed to inform the president and the senate that the souse was organized and ready to do business; a committee of three, con-sisting of Messrs. Payne, Bingham "" and Richardson, was appointed to join a similar committee of the senate and wait upon the president and inform him that congress was ready to receive any communication he might have to make; the rules of the last house were adopted after a slight jar, and then the biennial scat-drawing occurred. This latter ceremony was robbed of much of its interest by the fact that under the new arrangement of seats there are more were rendered in the United States supreme court in the last two of the insular test cases. One of them was that known as the "14 diamond ring" case, involving the relationship of the United States to the Philippine islands from a tariff point of view, and the other what is known as the Dooley case No. 2, involving the constitutionality of the collection of duty on goods shipped from New York to Porto Rico.

In the former case the court, through Chief Justice Fuller, held that the diamond rings brought in from the Philippines and over which the case arose should have been exempt from duty under the Paris treaty of peace, as that treaty made the Philippines American territory. The decision in the Philippine case followed closely that of the first Porto Rican case of last term. In the Dooley case, decided yesterday, it was held that the duty collected on goods carried from New York to Porto Rico was permissible, but that it was in reality a tax for the benefit of the Porto Ricans themselves, rather than an export duty, as was claimed by the merchants who antagonized the government in the case.

In both cases there were dissenting opinions, concurred in by four of the nine justices of the court.

It is generally believed that the finding in the Philippine case will lead to early efforts to secure legislation for the regulation of our commercial relations with those islands. As Porto Rican opinion sustains the constitutionality of the Foraker act, no such necessity will arise with reference to Porto Rico.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

The president has been in office but a brief period, but in that time he has given convincing evidence that he is a statesman. If proof of that fact were tacking, it is furnished in his first message to congress. That document not only tells tacts with which which the public is necessarily familiar, but upon these facts it bases strong, logical deductions.

There is no possible chance for doubt as to where the president stands upon the multitudinous subjects discussed in his message. It is not to be expected that all will agree with him, even among the members of his own party; the president is little concerned as to that. With the same courage and hardihood that characterized the leader of the Rough Riders at San Juan Hill, the president plunges fearlessly in medias res, fighting shy of nothing. When he stops to argue he marshals his facts in invincible array; where he simply expresses opintous, he leaves nothing for the reader to guess at.

The trust question is handled in a masterly manner, and so is reciprocity and every problem discussed. The Monroe doctrine, it is declared, should be the cardinal feature of all the nations of the two Americas, as it is of the United States. The unwisdom of disturbing the business interests of the country by any general change in the tariff system is clearly pointed out. but we can treat reciprocity as the handmaiden of protection, consulting our own safety, and gaining wider mar-

The message is able, manly and patriotic. Stalwart Americanism and sterling honesty are apparent in every line. It embodies the frank opinions of a fearless man, and few state papers ever laid before the nation's lawmakers have been better filled with good sense and good advice.

National bank capitalization has increased $30,000,000 in the past year. Under the new banking law authorizing the organization of banks on $25,-000 capital, 503 banks have been incorporated, greatly to the convenience of business men in that number of small communities. But the most interesting feature contained in the report of the comptroller of the currency, and the fact which speaks most eloquently of the country's prosperity, is this: The amount of deposits in savings banks is $2,310,660,000, and in this respect the United States stands at the head of all nations.

Senator Lurrows will introduce a bill providing for an amendment to the constitution empowering the people of the states to elect United States senators by popular votes in case the legislature should fail to elect. A better plan would be to confide the duty to the people at all times. Legislative for a moment as if he thought the redeadlocks are frequent, wearisome and provoking. Deadlocks in popular elections are almost unknown. The people can be trusted to elect their United States senators, and they should have the privilege.

Republicans in congress will keep in effect the politics which have made the nation great and prosperous. Demo crats and Populists will stand squarely in the way of progress as long as they dare, as they always do, stepping aside just in time to escape the fate of the bull that disputed right of way with the locomotive.

The Chinese propose to establish a lobby, "allee samee Melican man," and work against the re-enactment of the

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

The president has been in office but a brief period, but in that time he has given convincing evidence that he is a statesman. If proof of that fact were sage to congress. That document not only tells tacts with which which the public is necessarily familiar, but upon these facts it bases strong, logical de-

There is no possible chance for doubt as to where the president stands upon the multitudinous subjects discussed in his message. It is not to be expected that all will agree with him, even among the members of his own party; the president is little concerned as to that. With the same courage and hardihood that characterized the leader of the Rough Riders at San Juan Hill, the president plunges fearlessly in medias res, fighting shy of nothing. When he stops to argue he marshals his facts in invincible array; where he simply expresses opintous, he leaves nothing for the reader to guess at.

The trust question is handled in a masterly manner, and so is reciprocity and every problem discussed. The Monroe doctrine, it is declared, should be the cardinal feature of all the nations of the two Americas, as it is of the United States. The unwisdom of disturbing the business interests of the country by any general change in the tariff system is clearly pointed out, but we can treat reciprocity as the handmaiden of protection, consulting our own safety, and gaining wider mar-

The message is able, manly and patriotic. Stalwart Americanism and sterling honesty are apparent in every line. It embodies the frank opinions of a fearless man, and few state papers ever laid before the nation's lawmakers have been better filled with good sense and good advice.

National bank capitalization has increased $30,000,000 in the past year. Under the new banking law authorizing the organization of banks on $25, 000 capital, 503 banks have been incorporated, greatly to the convenience of business men in that number of small communities. But the most interesting feature contained in the report of the comptroller of the currency, and the fact which speaks most eloquently of the country's prosperity, is this: The amount of deposits in savings banks is $2,310,660,000, and in this respect the United States stands at the head of all nations.

Senator Lurrows will introduce a bill providing for an amendment to the constitution empowering the people of the states to elect United States senators by popular votes in case the legislature should fail to elect. A better plan would be to confide the duty to the people at all times. Legislative deadlocks are frequent, wearisome and provoking. Deadlocks in popular elections are slmost unknown. The people can be trusted to elect their United States senators, and they should have the privilege.

Republicans in congress will keep in effect the politics which have made the nation great and prosperous. Demo crats and Populists will stand squarely in the way of progress as long as they dare, as they always do, stepping aside just in time to escape the fate of the bull that disputed right of way with the locomotive.

The Chinese propose to establish a lobby, "allee samee Melican man," and work against the re-enactment of the exclusion law. The lobby is powerful, but it has its limitations. In this case it will tackle a task it cannot accom-

Speaker Henderson finds it necessary to lecture the members of congress | Why Such an Organization Is Needed. on the virtues of punctuality and attention to duty. One would think any man who knows enough to be in congress ought to have learned all these things in school.

A flood of new bills is ready to pour into the congressional hopper. Ninetenths of them will soon reach pigeon holes, where they belong.

Roosevelt the president keeps up as a producer of interesting and meritorious literature.

POTTERY MATTERS

MOVEMENT FOR A UNION OF THE BATTERS-OUT.

Uniform Scale Desired.

It is likely that the batters-out will soon organize a union in East Liverpool. These craftsmen enjoy an immediate step to running a jigger, but the batters-out have a trade. In this branch of the clay department it is to the promotion of jiggerman.

A batter-out, in his advancement the reputation of Roosevelt the author from mold runner, must acquire a deft proficiency, but there is a divergence of prices on the amount paid to batters-out in the different potteries and among the various jigger-

> It is true that a jiggerman receives pay from the pottery for the amount of ware he produces for the shop, and hires his own batters-out, mold runners and finishers. He employs his help very much in accordance with his own motions and with a view altogether extraneous to that of his em-

This is neither advantageous her father J. B. Coleman, 186 Fair to the jiggerman as a whole nor to the manufacturing potters.

A discussion as to whether the ap prentice mold runners should be admitted to the organization has not met with favor. The mold runners need not be skilled workmen. Their apprenticeship is too limited to admit of the title of craftsmen, although the batters-out believe that mold runners should also have a certain scale of prices, similar to that of the baters-out, but they think that if the mold runners wish a union, that is their business, and that they should have their own.

As the mold runner is the first step to the august position of a jiggerman, and quite simple in performance of duty, they should organize only for a unanimity and harmony of price in the wage scale, such as the batters-out are contending for, which ter spending a day in town, returned pects to move back to Ohio Saturday, would be perfectly legitimate, should be utterly insignificant in comparison to that of other nations which we overtop in other forms of business. We should not longer submit to conditions under which only a trifling portion of our great commerce is carried in our own ships. To remedy this state of things would not merely serve to build up our shipping interests, but it would also result in benefit to all who are interested in the permanent establishment of a wider market for American products and would provide an auxiliary force for the navy. Ships work for their own countries just as the United States. railroads work for their terminal points. Shipping lines, if established to the principal countries with which we have dealings, would be of political as well as commercial benefit. From every standpoint it is unwise for the United States to continue to rely upon the ships of competing nations for the Mrs. J. C. Ward of Fourteenth distribution of our goods. It should be made advantageous to carry American goods in American built ships.

At present American shipping is under certain great disadvantages when put in competition with the shipping of foreign countries. The forests alone cannot, however, fully regulate and conserve the waters of the arld region. Great storage works are necessary to equalize the flow of streams and to save the flood waters. Their construction has been conclusively shown to be an undertaking too vast for private effort. Nor con it be best accomplished by the individual states acting alone. The government should construct and maintain these reservoirs as it does other public works. Where their purpose is to regulate the flow of streams, the water should be turned freely into the channels in the dry season to take the same course under the same laws as the natural

The reclamation of the unsettled arid public lands presents a different problem. Here it is not enough to regulate the flow of streams. The object of the government is to dispose of the land to settlers who will build homes upon it. To accomplish this object water must be brought within their reach. The ploneer settlers on the arid publie domain chose their homes along streams from which they could themselves divert the water to reclaim their holdings. Such opportunities are practically gone. There remain. however. vast areas of public land which can be made available for homestead settlement, but only by reservoirs and main line canals impracticable for private enterprise. These irrigation works should be built by the national government. The lands reclaimed by them should be reserved by the government for actual settlers, and the cost of construction should, so far as possible, be repaid by the land reclaimed. The distribution of the water, the division of the streams among irrigators, should be left to the settlers themselves in conformity with state laws and without interference with those laws or with vested rights.

The declaration is made that in the arid states the only right to water which should be recognized is that of use. The president says that the doctrine of private ownership of water apart from land cannot prevail without causing wrong.

Insular Problems.

Insular questions are next treated. In Hawaii our aim must be to develop the territory on the traditional American lines. Porto Rico is declared to be thriving as never before. The attention of congress is called to the need of legislation concerning the island's publie lands. In Cuba it is stated that much progress has been made toward putting the independent government of the island upon a firm footing, and it is declared that independence will be an accomplished fact. The president

Elsewhere I have discussed the question of reciprocity. In the case of Cuba, however, there are weighty reasons of morality and of national interest why the policy should be held to have a peculiar application, and I most earnestly ask your attention to the wisdom, indeed to the vital need, of providing for a substantial reduction in the tariff duties on Cuban imports into

In dealing with the Philippine people we must show both patience and strength, forbearance and steadfast resolution. Our aim is high. We do not desire to do for the Islanders merely what has elsewhere been done for tropic peoples by even the best foreign governments. We hope to do for them what has never before been done for any people of the tropics-to make them fit for self government after the fashion of the really free nations.

The only fear is lest in our overanxlety we give them a degree of independence for which they are unfit, thereby inviting reaction and disaster. As fast as there is any reasonable hope that in a given district the people can govern themselves self government has been given in that district. There is not a locality fitted for self government which has not received it. But it may well be that in certain cases it will have to be withdrawn because the inhabitants show themselves unfit to exercise it; such instances have already hostile to any nation in the old world. show a sufficiently humanitarian spirit, at the expense of any other. No single great material work which remains to be undertaken on this continent is of such consequence to the American people as the building of a canal across the isthmus connecting North and South America. Its importance to the nation is by no means limited merely to its material effects upon our business prosperity, and yet with a view to these effects alone it would be to the last degree important for us immediately to begin it. While its benedeial effects would perhaps be most marked upon the Pacific coast and the gulf and South Atlantic states, it would also greatly benefit other sections. It is emphatically a work which it is for the interest of the entire country to begin and complete as soon as possible,

WATER WORKS BONDS

AGAIN PROPOSED TO LET THE PEOPLE VOTE ON THEM.

Matter Proposed to Wellsville Council-Another Constable Wanted. Bills Allowed.

The water works question came up for a share of discussion at the session of Wellsville council last evening. The solons met in regular session with the following members present: Messrs. Turner, Glaser, Donaldson, ren. President Steiner being absent, Vice President Turner presided.

A petition signed by Messrs. W. J. day. Maloney, f. H. Silver and A. S. Rodgwas read by Clerk McQueen. The peti- spell. tion requested the council to take necessary steps to submit to the voters ing the week with friends at Carof the city the question of issuing negle. $60,000 of bonds for the purpose of earliest possible date.

It was their opinion that at a spewere eliminated a better and more of the grip, careful consideration of the question will be given. Enough members not visiting Mr. and Mrs. George Boring, being present to pass an ordinance, in Salineville, the clerk was notified to prepare an ordinance complying with the request of the trustees.

Solicitor Wells, in behalf of the justices of the peace, suggested that another constable be appointed. The plea was that the two constables now ser) ing cannot attend to all the cases. Constable Thorn acts as night police and Constable Spires works during the day. As a result they are incapacitated to properly fill the office. The matter was referred to an ordinance committee.

The finance committee presented bills aggregating nearly $10,000. They were allowed and ordered paid. Rinehart Bros., of East Liverpool, were favored mostly by the passage of these bills. Their bill as allowed is over $5, and family.

Joseph Fassett complained through his attorney, C. E. Boyd, that his property had been damaged by the change of the grade on Third street. A committee was appointed to make an investigation.

Mr. Turner, president pro tem, seriously objected to the council allowing so many ordinances that are constantly bleeding the city treasury. He stated that money due now could not be paid until next February, and recommended that an immediate stop be made to certain bills. Each member of the council agreed with Mr. with Mrs. A. R. We should not longer submit to conditions under which only a trifling portion of our great commerce is carried in our own ships. To remedy this state of things would not merely serve to build up our shipping interests, but it would also result in benefit to all who are interested in the permanent establishment of a wider market for American products and would provide an auxiliary force for the navy. Ships work for their own countries just as railroads work for their terminal points. Shipping lines, if established to ple we must show both patience and the principal countries with which we have dealings, would be of political as well as commercial benefit. From every standpoint it is unwise for the United States to continue to rely upon the ships of competing nations for the distribution of our goods. It should be ers, trustees of the city water works, street, is recovering from a long sick made advantageous to carry American goods in American built ships.

At present American shipping is under certain great disadvantages when put in competition with the shipping of foreign countries. Many of the fast foreign steamships, at a speed of fourteen knots or above, are subsidized, and all our ships, sailing vessels and John Mcore is confined to his home steamers alike, cargo carriers of slow have to meet the fact that the original cost of building American ships is greater than is the case abroad; that the wages paid American officers and seamen are very much higher than those Miss Mayme Kountz is on duty at paid the officers and seamen of foreign competing countries, and that the standard of living on our ships is far The Tuesday Night club will meet superior to the standard of living on the ships of our commercial rivals. Our government should take such action as will remedy these inequalities. The American merchant marine should be restored to the ocean.

The passage of the act establishing gold as the standard money has, it is declared, been shown to be timely and judicious. The president adds:

In many respects the national banking law furnishes sufficient liberty for the proper exercise of the banking function, but there seems to be need of better safeguards against the deranging influence of commercial crises and financial panics. Moreover, the currency of the country should be made responsive to the demands of our domestic trade and commerce.

Economy in expenditures is urged. Amendment of the interstate commerce act is advised to insure the cardinal provisions of that act. The work car ried on by the department of agriculture is next considered and praised highly. The president then turns to forest preservation and irrigation of cepted a position as brakeman on the arid lands, saying that both are highly necessary. He would put all the work in connection with the forest reserves in charge of the bureau of forestry.

Irrigation.

The president continues by tracing the connection between the forest reserves and the water supply. He says: The forests are natural reservoirs. make possible the use of waters other wise wasted. They prevent the soi! from washing and so protect the storage reservoirs from filling up with silt. Forest conservation is, therefore, an essential condition of water conser-

The forests alone cannot, however, fully regulate and conserve the waters of the arid region. Great storage works are necessary to equalize the flow of streams and to save the flood waters. Their construction has been conclusively shown to be an undertaking too vast for private effort. Nor can it be best accomplished by the individual states acting alone. The government should construct and maintain these reservoirs as it does other public works. Where their purpose is to regulate the flow of streams, the water should be turned freely into the channels in the dry season to take the same course under the same laws as the natural

The reclamation of the unsettled arid public lands presents a different probem. Here it is not enough to regulate the flow of streams. The object of the government is to dispose of the land to settless who will build homes upon To accomplish this object water must be brought within their reach.

The ploneer settlers on the arid publie domain chose their homes along streams from which they could themselves divert the water to reclaim their boldings. Such opportunities are practically gone. There remain, however, vast areas of public land which can be made available for homestead settlement, but only by reservoirs and main line canals impracticable for private enterprise. These irrigation works should be built by the national government. The lands reclaimed by them should be reserved by the government for actual settlers, and the cost of construction should, so far as possible, be repaid by the land reclaimed. The distribution of the water, the division of the streams among irrigators, should be left to the settlers themselves in conformity with state laws and without interference with those laws or with vested rights.

The declaration is made that in the arid states the only right to water which should be recognized is that of use. The president says that the doctrine of private ownership of water apart from land cannot prevail without causing wrong.

Insular Problems.

Insular questions are next treated. In Hawaii our aim must be to develop the territory on the traditional American lines. Porto Rico is declared to be thriving as never before. The attention of congress is called to the need of legislation concerning the Island's publie lands. In Cuba it is stated that much progress has been made toward putting the independent government of the island upon a firm footing, and it is declared that independence will be an accomplished fact. The president

Elsewhere I have discussed the question of reciprocity. In the case of Cuba, however, there are weighty reasons of morality and of national interest why the policy should be held to have a peculiar application, and I most earnestly ask your attention to the wisdom, indeed to the vital need, of providing for a substantial reduction in the tariff duties on Cuban imports into the United States.

We do not desire to do for the Islanders merely what has elsewhere been done for tropic peoples by even the best foreign governments. We hope to do for them what has never before been done for any people of the tropics-to make them fit for self government after the fashion of the really free nations.

The only fear is lest in our overanxlety we give them a degree of independence for which they are untit, thereby inviting reaction and disaster. As fast as there is any reasonable hope that in a given district the people can govern themselves self government has been given in that district. There is not a locality fitted for self government which has not received it. No single great material work which remains to be undertaken on this continent is of such consequence to the American people as the building of a canal across the isthmus connecting North and South America. Its importance to the nation is by no means limited merely to its material effects upon our business prosperity, and yet with a view to these effects alone it would be to the last degree important for us immediately to begin it. While its beneficial effects would perhaps be most marked upon the Pacific coast and the gulf and South Atlantic states, it would also greatly benefit other sections. Wonderful Cure of Dyspepsia—A Much Talked-of Case.

Borders on Miraculous - Blood Wine Succeeds after Physicians said: " No Hope."

Mr. Edgar H. Warren of Waterville, Me .. is a much talked-of man, because he has been cured of what he terms " Rock in the Stomach." His case, which has caused much widespread interest, has been the topic of discussion at nearly all of the recent medical gatherings, here and abroad. His experience almost rivals the wonderful surgical operation of a year ago, when in Sweden a man's stomach was completely removed, and he entirely recovered. These things merely go to show what can be done with the digestive organs when the proper means is available. Mr. Warr has this to say: "I called it 'Rock in the Stomach' because I felt all the time as if there was a rock lodged in my stomach, about the size of an egg. It was so apparent that no one could make me believe different. People have stone in bladder, and gravel, - why couldn't I have a rock in the stomach? Well, I felt it for about a year. It was particularly prominent after meals, and gave me excruciating pain. Nothing would relieve it. Nothing would remove it. It became a constant burden, and so prominent that I could almost feel it with my hand. I also suffered as a result in many other ways. I would taste my food for hours after eating, and the gases and juices from the stomach were very nauseating. My appetite fell off until I ate very, very little. My weight ran down until I was about like a skeleton, and I thought my end was not far distant. Physicians one after the other treated me, and after making no headway, would remark that there was 'no hope.' I began to despair when "Blood Wine" was recommended to me. I thought, of course, that if a regular physician couldn't help me that nothing else would. 'Try it,' said one of my friends.

'It will not cost you much, and if it don't cure you it surely won't hurt you.' This seemed plausible, so I went and got a bottle and took it, and it helped me. I got another; it worked like the first. The third,

DEFENSE OF MRS. BONINE.

Testimony Begun In Court-Once Heard Giving Ayres Advice.

Washington, Dec. 3.-The defense in the case of Mrs. Lola Ida Bonine, charged with the murder of James Seymour Ayres, began the introduction of testimony and placed 15 wit-nesses on the stand. The line of ex- Habeas Corpus Proceedings in Pennwas to establish that Mrs. Bonine no particular partiality toward Ayres, and that her conduct and bearing toward him differed in no respect from that displayed toward other guests of the hotel.

The first witness called was Wililam C. Hay, who, with his family, lived at the Kenmore at the time of the tragedy. He testified that the dances at the Kenmore were usually arranged by Mrs. Bonine, and that at these dances her bearing toward Ayres was nothing out of the ordinary. It had been her habit, he said, when the dancers were not prompt in their attendance to go to their rooms and urge them to come down. He stated on cross-examination that he understood it had been Mrs. Bonine's intention to leave the hotel, but after the tragedy he had advised her it would be improper to do so until the affair was cleared up. Richard L. Jenks testified that he heard Mrs. Bonine giving Ayres ad-

It tells why so many men and women, who so far as age in years is concerned, should be in the prime of health, find themselves letting go of the strength, the power, the vitality they once possessed. It is because that great motor power of the body, nerve force, is impaired. Every organ depends upon its controlling pends upon its controlling power just as much as the engine depends upon the steam to put it into action. An engine won't go without steam. Much Talked-of Case.

Borders on Miraculous - Blood Wine Succeeds after Physicians said: " No Hope."

Mr. Edgar H. Warren of Waterville, Me., is a much talked-of man, because he has been cured of what he terms " Rock in the Stomach." His case, which has caused much widespread interest, has been the topic of discussion at nearly all of the recent medical gatherings, here and abroad. His experience almost rivals the wonderful surgical operation of a year ago, when in Sweden a man's stomach was completely removed, and he entirely recovered. These things merely go to show what can be done with the digestive organs when the proper means is available. Mr. Warr has this

to say: "I called it 'Rock in the Stomach' because I felt all the time as if there was a rock lodged in my stomach, about the size of an egg. It was so apparent that no one could make me believe different. People have stone in bladder, and gravel, — why couldn't I have a rock in the stomach? Well, I felt it for about a year. - It was particularly prominent after meals, and gave me excruciating pain. Nothing would relieve it. Nothing would remove it. It became a constant burden, and so prominent that I could almost feel it with my hand. I also suffered as a result in many food for other ways. I would taste my food for hours after eating, and the gases and juices from the stomach were very nauseating.

My appetite fell off until I ate very, very little. My weight ran down until I was about like a skeleton, and I thought my end was not far distant. Physicians one after the other treated me, and after makafter the other treated me, and after making no headway, would remark that there was 'no hope.' I began to despair when "Blood Wine" was recommended to me. I thought, of course, that if a regular physician couldn't help me that nothing else would. 'Try it,' said one of my friends. 'It will not cost you much, and if it don't cure you it surely won't hurt you.' This seemed plausible, so I went and got a bottle and took it, and it helped me. I got another; it worked like the first. The third, fourth, and fifth followed, and I continued to improve. I have just finished the sixth, and my last, for I am now thoroughly cured. My rock has disappeared, also the pain, nausea, gas, and other symptoms. My regular weight has returned, and I have no further complaints. I am going to have no further complaints. I am going to do all I can for "Blood Wine," in return for what it did for me, and I have no hesi-

held in memory of President McKin-

Lieutenant J. L. Jayne, command-g, reports that on his visit to the island of Manua he learned that memorial services had been held there on receipt of the news of the president's death.

"The natives generally," says Lieutenant Jayne, "seemed very much im-pressed with the event. They wore mourning badges at the memorial service." One of the high chiefs expressed the desire of the people of his two counties to hold a lagi, which is the Samoan way of celebrating the death of a high chief. It consists of feasting, carousing and idleness for an extended period. Lieutenant Jayne sugested that instead of this Lieutenant method the people do something for their own good, and advised them to build a memorial road. The chief, after consulting with his people, informed Lieutenant Jayne that they

ACREEMENT SAID TO BE REACHED

Dispatch Asserts Treaty Probably Will Be Signed, In Washington, This Week-Admitted In Washington Negotiations Were On.

Copenhagen, Dec. 3 .- A full agree ment has been reached between Denmark and the United States for the sale of the Danish West Indies. The treaty will probably be signed this week at Washington. The price fixed is between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000. The question of free trade and citizenship will be decided by congress, which, it is believed here, will grant these concessions.

Opposition Among Subjects.

The negotiations have, from the first, aroused the keenest interest throughout Denmark. Public meetings have been held and strances have been sent to the government and rigsdag. One of the remonstrants was signed by 100 of the most prominent men in the country. The newspapers have all been against the sale, either by silence or open opposition. Petitions have also been received by the king and ministry from the inhabitants of the islands. Many large business houses and shipping interests have offered to con-tribute to the betterment of the island's conditions if the sale was The king and the royal family were at heart opposed to part ing with the possessions, and the leading imperial and royal houses of Europe to which the king of Denmark s related, all exerted personal and political influence against their trans-fer to the United States. The fact that three successive ministries of foreign affairs, all of whom were opposed to the sale, have had a hand in the negotiations accounts for the length of time consumed.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded discease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hail's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hail's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blocd and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to care. Send for list of testimonials.

Very Trying.

"Johnny," said a provincial grocer to the new boy, "what kind of butter did you send over to the Hendersons?" "Some of the rolls here," said the new boy respectfully.

"Oh, great Cæsar!" gronned the grocer. "Sent 'em some of that good butter just after I have got 'em down to this here in the barrel! Sent 'em the best butter in the shop just as I finish a two years' course of getting 'em down to the barrel butter! Gave 'em a taste of good butter after I have got 'em to think this barrel butter was the best in the world! And still you say you hope to own a grocer's shop some day! The taste of that butter you sent 'em will awaken all their old slumbering desires for good butter, and I'll have to work another two years getting 'em down a little poorer each time before I get 'em where there's any profit on 'em again! You might just as well put on your coat and go. Groceries ain't your line!" -London Tit-Bits.

The Oldest Tree on Earth.

The oldest tree on earth, at least as far as any one knows, is the boo tree in the sacred city of Amarapoora, Burma. It was planted, the record says, $16.00@17.00. in the year 288 B. C. Its great age is proved according to historic documents, says Sir James Emerson, who and Pennsylvania creamery. 24½@ adds: "To it kings have dedicated their dominions in testimony of a belief that 160 It is a branch of the identical fig tree under which Buddah reclined at Urumelva when he underwent his apotheosis." Its leaves are carried away by pilgrims as relics; but, as it is too sacred to touch with a knife, these leaves can only be gathered after they have fallen.

Pat, the driver of the coal wagon, seemed puzzied when he got up on High street the other day. He looked at the numbers of several bouses and scratched his head in a perplexed way. Finally Mrs. Eaton, for whom the coal was intended, appeared and inquired: "Beg pardon, but is that coal for Eaton?" "No, mom." responded Pat promptly; "it's not for 'atin; it's fur burnin!"-
